School board approves site for new campus

■ West Sacramento's school board finalizes choice of Jefferson Boulevard site for new high school, but local citizen's group challenges the site's safety

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

West Sacramento's school board on Thursday voted unanimously to accept an environmental impact report (EIR) on a planned new 3,000-student high school, and to direct school district staff to start pursuing financing and other ingredients needed to make the school a reality. But a local citizens group raised challenges – including a potential "terrorist threat" involving an existing high-pressure gas line near the proposed campus, and suggested a battle over the site might be "brewing."

Derek Backus and Kimber Goddard are both attorneys and members of the West Sacramento Quality Urbanization and Development (WS-QUAD) citizens group. Before the school board voted 5-0 to accept the EIR on Thursday, Backus told the boardmembers that dangers still remain to be assessed.

"The project site is situated along a 40-year old high pressure liquid petroleum pipeline that, from preliminary unqualified assessment, could cause an explosion that devastates the site," said Backus. We know longer live in a world free from terrorism, he added.

Kimber Goddard echoed the comments, telling the board the pipeline carries a minimum pressure of 600 pounds per square inch, and is located 60 feet from the school boundary. He told the board members that if they voted to adopt the EIR's safety conclusions, they "really won't be able to say this is a risk-free situation. The EIR does say other developments have been build on a pipeline, but it doesn't say 'other schools.'"

In addition, he said, the report's analysis of the pipeline's threat has been presented too late for the public to be able to properly digest. And he suggested that the issue might not end with the board's decision:

"EIR battles such as the one brewing here can take a long time," said Goddard.

Goddard and Backus also said the report unfairly dismissed other sites as inferior, depending on "vague and unsupported" arguments. Two of those alternative sites included in the EIR study involved land owned by the Port of Sacramento, also in West Sacramento's southern area.

The "preferred site" – the one chosen by a 5-0 school board vote following the objections of WS-QUAD – is located across Linden Road from the new Nugget center, and along Jefferson Boulevard. A successful school bond issue will potentially pay for most of the school's costs, but some of the land yet remains to be obtained for the project.

Goddard made an oblique reference to the November election, saying said he hoped that the board's "decision to rush is not a politically motivated decision, to get this overlarge school cemented in place before the composition of the board may change."

School board members commented – and rebutted – before they voted to accept the EIR and go ahead with the Jefferson/Linden high school site.

"The safety of the students of West Sacramento is uppermost in all of our minds," said board member Pat Flint. "I believe a lot of the issues discussed this evening have been discussed. I believe our experts and support their decision."

"The pipeline has always been a concern," stated board member Karl Machschefes. "We have two major pipelines in this area and we have smaller pipelines at other sites – sites that have been looked at."

"I think this EIR was perhaps one of the most documents that's ever been prepared for a development in West Sacramento," added board member Kevin Jones. He added that the concerns, frequently raised by critics, about the campus's possible impact on local traffic were a bit misguided.

West Sacramento's Esther Stinchfield is crocheting a little something for the White House – something in a familiar arrangement of red, white and blue.

"I have a friend, Arlene Wilder, and it was her idea," said Stinchfield – who turned 94 Monday, but seems far younger. "She suggested I make this afghan and send it to the White House. She got some friends to buy the yarn, and it's all done except for the white stars. Now it's up to me to just finish it."

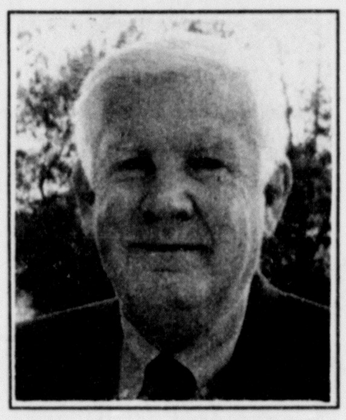

At a reporter's request, Stinchfield measured her flag-inspired afghan, finding it almost nine feet long and over four feet wide. She said she doesn't know how long it took her to crochet, as she tends to work on such things a little at a time, in between other chores.

"I just crochet all the time," she commented. "My mom used to crochet, and I used to say, how do you sit there all day and was up that yarn? Now I know. But I really enjoy it."

Stinchfield has a close friend who works at the White House and hopes the gift will be accepted there, but she has no promises thus far.

She's been a West Sacramento resident since about 1945.

Q: According to Paul Johnson, one of your assistant superintendents, the latest round of state standardized testing shows that the school district has pretty much "plateaued" -- to use his word -- in terms of test scores. Why do you think that is?

A: I think part of the reason is that we have adopted the State of California's new standards and we are just two years into that process. As you know, using the old testing criteria our students showed steady improvement for a number of years and I think it's going to take four or five years of teaching to the new standards before we will really know if we have plateaued or

West Sac festivities:

Parade & fair Saturday

There's a passel of free entertainment on hand Saturday in West Sacramento.

The traditional "Community Day Parade" begins at 10 a.m. from Merkley Avenue at Westacre Road, and makes the journey to River Walk Park near the Tower Bridge. Parade participants will include schools, civic groups, ethnic organizations and politicos.

From 11 a.m. to 6 p.m., "Neighbors Fair" will pick up where the parade leaves off at River Walk Park.

Blues musician Jackie Greene will headline the free entertainment at Neighbors Fair, assisted by "Roy Rogers & the Delta Rhythm Kings," jazz from the high school "Syncopated Sea Monkeys," reggae from "Creation," and Afro-Cuban folk from Ebo "Okokan."

Local dance academy troupes will join dancers representing Sikh and Hmong culture, among others.

The fair is intended to help celebrate the diverse heritage of West Sacramento and its residents.

Thieves clean out volunteers' snack bar —

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

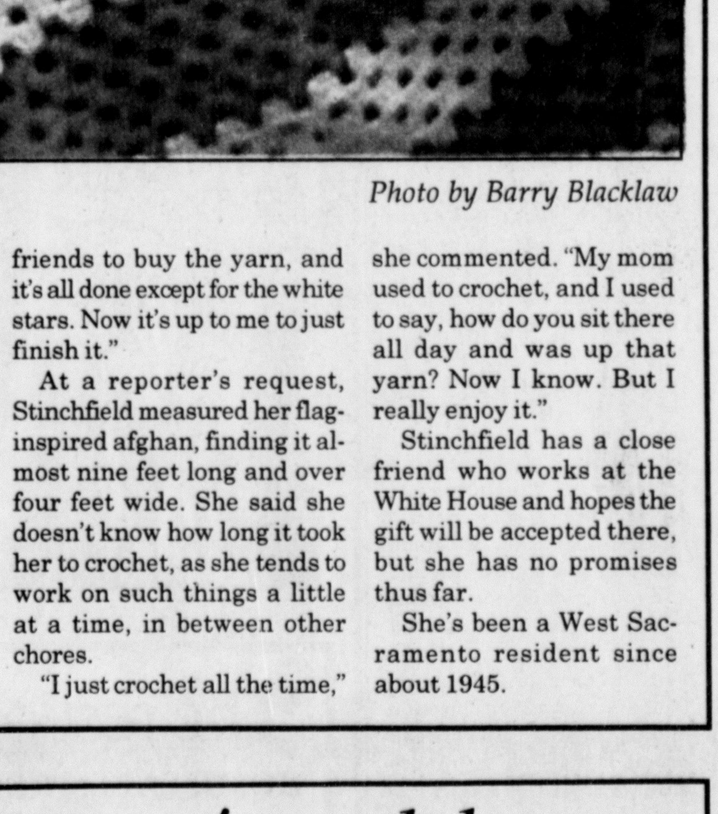

It hasn't bothered Pam Geivett too much when, from time to time, someone broke into the snack bar operated by the volunteers of the River City Athletic Booster Club and stole a few bags of chips. But what happened Thursday night was different. The club had just stocked up on food items prior to last week's football game, and somebody had other plans for the goods – all of the goods.

"We had just gone to Smart & Final and purchased $780 worth of stuff," reports Geivett, the booster club president. "Someone broke in sometime after 10 p.m. They took the nacho machines, the cases of soda – everything we had, they took.

The two nacho machines were worth $260 each, and the burglars also caused a $330 repair bill to the door of the snack bar near River City High School's football field. Total losses of food and equipment exceeded $1,000.

Grandmothers are a gift to be treasured

My Back Pages

By Daryl Fisher

I was nine-years old in 1956 and had never been out of California before when my mother suddenly decided it was time for the whole family to get on board the Southern Pacific Railroad and head out to Missouri to visit my grandmother. I didn't even know where Missouri was, but I was really anticipating finally spending some time with Martha Adelaide Wilson Cline (my Granny) on her own turf.

Granny was not your ordinary elderly lady. Her grandparents had once rented a room to the famous outlaw Jesse James (who left them a dollar tip), and her mother was directly related (although it had never been explained exactly how) to Teddy Roosevelt. I hadn't seen her since I was very little, but my mother had often explained that she lived in a small town called Ava, close to the town square, in a tiny white wooden house my father and uncle called 'the shack'. The shack had been purchased at the height of the Great Depression for ten dollars down and ten dollars a month. It had no running water and when you had to go to the bathroom, you used a two-seat outhouse in the backyard. Drinking water was retrieved from a nearby well and since collecting and heating enough water to take a bath was a real hassle, bathing was way down on everyone's list of priorities.

The town itself still allowed horses to be tied up on posts in front of the grocery store and you could buy all the cherry Cokes you could drink for a dime and go to the movies on Saturday afternoon for a quarter. In other words, to a nine-year old boy who still rode around on a black broom handle called Midnight and cherished his Roy Rogers lunch pail, Ava, Missouri sounded like paradise itself.

When we arrived at the shack I was surprised at how small my Granny was. She was barely five-feet tall, but her eyes sparkled as she took me by the hand and led me out into the backyard to show me the chickens and rabbits she raised. I had never seen chickens before, but I had just decided that they were kind of cute when Granny suddenly bent over, grabbed one of them by the neck, and began swinging it around over her head. I could hardly believe my eyes as she threw the poor thing down on the ground and waited patiently for it to stop running all over the place. When it finally dropped dead, she picked it up, took my hand, and the three of us returned to the kitchen to start preparing dinner.

"Have you ever plucked a chicken before?" she asked me as she handed me the still warm but lifeless bird. No matter how hard I tried, I couldn't seem to speak.

The next afternoon, still not fully recovered from the shock of seeing a chicken get its neck wrung, I reluctantly ventured out to the scene of the crime to play with the rabbits. They were caged in a huge hutch and there had to be at least 30 of them in there hopping around. Granny came up behind me and asked if I would like her to take one of them out so I could pet it.

"Can I pet them, really?" I remember asking her.

"Sure you can pet them," she said as she reached into the cage and pulled out the cutest one of the bunch. It was all white and fluffy, with big pink eyes and brown, droopy ears.

Granny waited patiently until I had petted myself out, gently took the bunny by the back of the neck, and strolled over to an old tree stump. She then held the wiggling rabbit tightly against the flat wooden surface, and with one clean stroke of an axe, whopped off the bunny's head.

It took me a few moments, but I finally managed to scream. Granny looked back at me with alarm, worried that I had hurt myself or something.

"Granny," I cried out, "you gotta stop killing things!"

She left the dead bunny on the tree stump and hurried over to me. She put her arm around me, looked deep into my eyes and gently explained, "Honey, a body's got to eat."

I don't remember exactly how long we stayed in tiny Ava, Missouri that long ago summer, but by the time I went home I loved Granny's fried chicken and rabbit dinners, and I could pluck feathers and help skin a rabbit with the best of them.

Over the years, Granny and I had many talks and it would take forever to list all the valuable knowledge she passed along to me. She also wrote me lots of letters (especially when I was overseas), each of them ending with her favorite saying: "I'll be seeing you soon, if the good Lord's a-willing and the creeks don't rise."

Granny passed away a few years back at the age of 89. A few months before she died her doctor asked her if she wanted a big complicated open heart surgery that would have possibly given her a few more years to live, and she kindly told him, "No, thank you." She knew that she had lived a good and long life and was at peace with leaving the joys and hardships of living to others.

Granny had been born before there were airplanes, lived through two World Wars and the Great Depression, saw a man take a stroll on the moon and was a walking, breathing history book. She also made sure that for more than 40 years, no matter where I was at, I always received a loving card on my birthday with two crisp, brand new dollar bills in it. She is buried on a gently rolling hill just outside of Ava, next to the only man she ever loved, and not far from her beloved shack.

A while back, someone asked me what was the toughest thing I've ever had to do. Serving in Vietnam and a number of other things crossed my mind, but the answer was actually very simple; reading parts of this eulogy at my Granny's funeral.

Cat Is Loving but Skittish

Q: My beautiful part-Siamese cat "Lily" is a puzzlement to me. She is an abandoned cat, about 8 years old, whom I adopted almost a year ago. Lily is loving and wants lots of attention, but she is afraid of anyone other than me and will hide for hours when visitors come. Also, sometimes she will walk about the apartment, meowing and howling as if searching for someone or something. Any suggestions as to how I can get her over this fear and loneliness? — Ivy S., Chicago

A: Abandoned and/or abused cats present a special problem for their owners: They will often bond with one person but refuse to come near anyone else. Pets who are abandoned can suffer from deep emotional trauma — their "mom" or "dad" was there for them, and suddenly they weren't!

Lily has a few issues that she's dealing with. First, she was abandoned; then she had to adjust to a new and unfamiliar home. The fact that she's wandering the apartment, meowing, makes me think she lived with other animal companions and is searching for them. Her constant need for attention reinforces the trauma she suffered and the loneliness and worry she still feels.

Don't be concerned about her hiding from visitors. Even cats that have never been abandoned or abused will be shy around strangers. Over time (years, possibly) she may become less skittish and even allow herself to be petted by strangers.

A more important issue to address is her need for attention and companionship. You can ease her loneliness by scheduling active playtime at several intervals during the day. This way she is engaged in interesting, challenging activity. Also establish a regular feeding routine. When you're out for long periods, turn on a radio at low volume so the apartment doesn't sound empty. Over time, as she starts to believe you won't leave her, she will settle down.

Lily may never be a totally relaxed, sociable kitty cat, but the two of you can still develop a rewarding relationship.

HOME SALES REMAIN ROBUST:

The current volume of home sales is surprising the experts who predicted a more sluggish market in late summer or fall of this year. At today's rate of sales, about 6.95 million homes will be sold this year – an all-time annual record.

We expected sales to ease, but it's now clear the market has tremendous momentum. The improving job market and higher consumer confidence are feeding into a large demographic demand for housing. Home sales will probably remain quite strong, even with some easing expected in the next few months.

Another key motivator driving today's robust homes sales is the continuing low mortgage interest rates. At this writing, that rate hovers around 6 percent for a 30-year, fixed-rate mortgage, and significantly less for a 15-year loan or adjustable-rate mortgage (ARM).

Considering most forecasts are projecting mortgage interest rates to only gradually rise,. this could keep the housing market from taking as much of a breather as was anticipated in early summer. This year is well on the way to setting an annual record.

Yolo judge named to advisory panel

Yolo County Superior Court Judge Kathleen M. White has been appointed by the chief justice of the state supreme court to serve on the statewide Collaborative Justice Courts Advisory Committee.

The committee makes recommendations for improving the processing of cases in drug courts, domestic violence courts, peer courts and other community-based treatment courts. Recommendations are submitted to the Judicial Council, which governs California courts.

"It's an honor and a privilege to be appointed," said White in a Yolo County press release. "I'm grateful the chief justice recognizes the long tradition of collaborative courts in Yolo County.

Although we lack the resources of courts in many larger counties, we make up for it in dedication and creativity."

VETERANS ★ POST ★

by Freddy Groves

A reader identified only as "Mike" sent me a clipping from a Washington Post article that appeared in April regarding otherwise largely underreported facts about soldiers wounded in Iraq.

The article says, in brief, that as of its publication date, some 4,000 personnel had sustained serious wounds since the invasion. And as Mike says, "You can only imagine how many more (have been wounded) since then."

The piece describes doctors in the main combat-support hospitals in Iraq as "reeling" from the continuing stream of wounded with wounds so devastating that most of these young soldiers would have died from them in any previous war.

The doctors are especially concerned about the fact that most of the more serious wounds are to the head and the eyes, with damage that could leave many of the soldiers brain damaged, blind or both.

Mike says more attention should be paid to what's happening in the field hospitals, and to what we're doing as a nation to prepare to care for our wounded when they come home.

We'll do a follow-up on this — and in the meantime, let's get your comments.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF Robert B. Bradley, Jr.
CASE NUMBER PB04-235

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of Robert B. Bradley, Jr..

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Robert B. Bradley III in the Superior Court of California, County of Yolo.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Robert B. Bradley III be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on Oct. 19, 2004, at 8:30 a.m. at Dept. 11 at Yolo County Superior Court, 812 Court St., Woodland, CA 95695.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in Probate Code section 9100. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a "Request for Special Notice" (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A "Request for Special Notice" form is available from the court clerk.

Elect TOM MARTIN Mayor

Community first. Politics second.

- Four districts, one mayor: Each area should have a councilmember from their neighborhood.
- Underfunded fire and police departments mean poor response times and endanger or jeapardize public safety.
- The City should stop spending money just to spend money. The city should have its departments more efficient without underfunding.
- Why subsidize thousands of dollars on a venue that the people of West Sacramento can't use?
- We need a council that is willing to work more closely with our schools, without being biased.
- Our city should work closer with businesses -- big and small -- to have a well-balanced community.
- Slower growth with infrastructure in place brings to our city a better fire and police department. Bringing better schools, more parks and a closer community.

Those are just a few of my issues.

Q: As a former River City High School substitute teacher who administered some of those standardized tests and witnessed numerous students making little or no effort to do well on them, I've often wondered what they really measure. Do you know?

A: Well, I know what the State of California thinks they measure, but I'm one of those educators who believes that taking a one day testing snapshot of your students is not necessarily the best way to find out what they do or do not know. Although we send out notices to parents about the testing and try to give our students incentives to do well, it's true that some of our students don't take the testing all that seriously. Unfortunately, this is the way the state has decided to measure students, school districts, teachers, and administrators, and we will continue to do our best to improve our test scores. But I really do believe that if you want testing to be a good predictor it needs to be ongoing throughout the school year and not just a one day snapshot.

Q: How is the district doing in terms of class size?

A: Unlike a lot of other area school districts we have been able to hold on to lower class sizes at the kindergarten through 3rd grade level and also in our 9th grade math and language classes. By lower class sizes I mean twenty students to one teacher and numerous studies have shown those kinds of class sizes are really good for students and we hope to keep them that way in the future.

Q: How's Washington Unified doing financially?

A: Well, we were recently notified by the Yolo County Office of Education that they were very happy about the fact that for the first time in several years the District's general fund does not project deficit spending for fiscal 2004/2005. Our multi-year projections also show that we are capable of meeting our financial obligations through 2006/2007 and for the first time since I've been here I feel really good about the financial team we have assembled at the district office. Part of our financial problems in the past had to do with over-estimating the number of students we expected to show up at our schools at the beginning of the school year but we have a better handle on that now and I want to stick to that conservative way of budgeting.

Q: So why is it that with all the new housing in Southport Washington Unified hasn't really seen dramatic new numbers in terms of student growth?

A: I think part of it is that a lot of the new home buyers in Southport are young and really don't have school age children yet. Plus many of those homeowners are commuting back and forth from the Bay Area and other communities where they work and have decided to leave their children in the schools they were already attending. And of course some of those parents may have elected to put their children in private schools.

Q: How do you think Washington Unified is doing in terms of its reputation? I mean, as a parent who has sent four kids through the district's schools -- including Golden State Middle School -- without any of them getting beat up or having drugs forced on them or being asked to join a gang, etc., I have always felt that West Sacramento's reputation for being a bad place to send your kids to get a good education was way off the mark.

A: Well, I still find that some parents are worried about their children attending Golden State, but I would like to challenge anyone who thinks that way to go over and invites applications for membership on the YOLO HABITAT NCCP/HCP STEERING COMMITTEE. This committee advises the Joint Powers Board of Directors on matters relating to the preparation of a Natural Communities Conservation/Habitat Conservation Plan for Yolo County. The JPA Board encourages applications from a wide variety of interest groups. Steering Committee members provide constructive input from the larger interest areas they represent and provide an interest based level of insight on draft working documents, policies and programs that are generated by the NCCP/HCP JPA and consulting team. The Steering Committee will conclude its formal purpose once a draft NCCP/HCP has been delivered to the JPA Board.

Application filing is on a continuous basis and will be considered by the JPA Board on October 18, 2004. For further information concerning the functions of this committee contact Maria Wong at 916-617-4775.

PERSONS APPOINTED BY THE YOLO HABITAT JOINT POWERS BOARD OF DIRECTORS WILL BE REQUIRED TO FILE A FINANCIAL DISCLOSURE STATEMENT, CATEGORY 3.

NOTICE OF INTENT TO ADOPT A NEGATIVE DECLARATION

A Negative Declaration has been prepared for the Verizon Wireless Use Permit Application in the City of West Sacramento, located at 1031 Triangle Court, on the south side of the Charter Communications property (APN 10-559-121). This Negative Declaration has been prepared to address the potential environmental impacts of increasing the height of an existing communications tower from 90' to 95' and co-locating up to 12 Verizon Wireless antennas and associated ground support equipment at the site. In addition to the tower's cable television communications function, Sprint PCS and SureWest Wireless already have facilities at the site.

The Negative Declaration concludes that there will be no significant adverse impacts on the environment. Copies of the Negative Declaration will be on file no later than October 1, 2004 at the West Sacramento Community Development Department, 1110 West Capitol Avenue, 2nd Floor, West Sacramento, CA 95691, (916) 617-4645.

Any affected or interested parties may submit comments to the Community Development Department no later than 5:00 p.m. October 20, 2004. Any affected or interested parties may also appear at the October 21, 2004 Planning Commission meeting and comment on the Negative Declaration and/or the proposed project.

The West Sacramento Planning Commission will consider adoption of the Negative Declaration on October 21, 2004 in the City Council Chambers located at 1110 West Capitol Avenue, 2nd Floor, West Sacramento, California, at 6:00 p.m., or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard.

OPINION

News-Ledger Editorial

Musical chairs & other matters

It's a game of musical chairs you won't likely see again around here.

November's city council election features a "disappearing" city council seat, as the council goes from five members to four, and a new and separate post of elected mayor is created. At the same time a council seat disappears, three incumbents are up for reelection. They will fight for two seats. The third seat will cease to exist.

Usually, a local incumbent gets a relatively easy ride to reelection in West Sacramento, carrying more name recognition and tending to have an easier time finding financial support than a new challenger does. The disappearing seat changes that. Not only will the challengers to the council have a fight on their hands, but so will the incumbents.

On the eastern wall of the city council chambers in the new West Sacramento civic center is an array of photographs. In the middle is a group of five, including the smiling faces of the current council members – Bill Kristoff, Mark Montemayor, Christopher Cabaldon, Carolyn Castillo Pierson and Oscar Villegas. A column of photos to the left shows past council members Thelma Rogers, Fidel Martinez, Ray Jones, Mike McGowan and Cindy Tuttle. A column on the right shows former members Roland Hensley (the late), Wes Beers, Greg Potnick and Jim Cahill.

That makes an uneven set of columns, since the city has nine "former" council members. The left-hand column has five faces and the right-hand column has four – with an empty space on top.

Next month, Kristoff will jockey with Montemayor and Villegas to see which of their friendly mugs will move into that waiting space.

The loser can take heart though, if he wishes: should Cabaldon win the race for the new mayor's post on November 2, the change means he will vacate a city council seat. So there is at least the possibility that the loser among the three incumbent councilmen could be appointed, or win a special election, back to the council by early 2005.

A friend of the News-Ledger saw last week's published note that this edition would be going out to every home in West Sacramento, in addition to the usual subscribers. She passed along a printed page from an "ancestor" to the News-Ledger, the Weekly Reader, also founded by News-Ledger founder Julius Feher. On that page was the following "dedication"

"Because of the many new homes and buildings in West Sacramento, we dedicate this edition of the West Sacramento Weekly Reader, the "Eastern Yolo History," to future and present homebuilders, and the people responsible and connected with them, and also to the future Pioneer Memorial Bridge, which we hope will be erected in the very near future."

Those words were published in 1941. The News-Ledger is happy to report that the Pioneer Memorial Bridge has long been a reality; it is the freeway bridge that takes you from Jefferson Blvd. to Sacramento.

Letters to the Editor

In support of Kristoff

Bill Kristoff is the backbone of West Sacramento. Rarely has a person given so much of himself to public service. His campaign pledge "At your service" speaks of the kind of person he has always been.

For our newer residents who don't know Bill, he has been serving West Sacramento since it was incorporated as a city in 1986. He is one of the founding fathers of this city. And like a good father, he has continued to nurture, guide and direct it with integrity, patience and wisdom, and helped it become the city we love to live in today.

Bill Kristoff is a man you can trust and he truly will be "at your service". With his leadership West Sacramento will continue to fulfill its potential and I hope you will join me in voting for Bill on November 2nd.

HERE IS A PLEASANT LITTLE GAME that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner and check one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

"Resident Evil: Apocalypse"

Running time: 90 minutes
MPAA rating: R

As a critic, I know all too well that when I go to see a zombie movie, I shouldn't expect Proust. I also know that if a movie is based on a video game, I should ratchet my IQ down a good 75 points. "Resident Evil: Apocalypse" is both of those, so I went into the theater with the lowest of expectations: Just give me a couple of hot chicks in skimpy clothes wielding enough firepower to make Rambo blush and blasting away at the Undead.

Expectations met.

The film stars Milla Jovovich, reprising her role as Alice, the former security officer for The Umbrella Corp., an evil megacorporation that has created the T-virus that turns people into zombies. "Resident Evil: Apocalypse" takes up where the original flick left off. Alice awakens back in the Umbrella Corp.'s underground lab, where she discovers that the zombie antidote she took has turned her into a super warrior.

Umbrella Corp. has released the T-virus above ground on Raccoon City. Alice must go above ground, fight zombies and rescue the young daughter of the inventor of the virus. If she can rescue the daughter, she will get a helicopter ride to safety.

Aiding Alice are: Jill Valentine (played by the über-hot Sienna Guillory), a cop with a righteous 'tude in a skin-tight top and mini-skirt; a pretty TV reporter (Sandrine Holt) who becomes zombie vittles; a black guy who curses a lot; and some other dude.

The stunts are pretty cool and over-the-top. The dialogue is dumb. There are a bunch of different kinds of zombies, and they all get fragged. Did I mention the movie has Topless Zombie Hookers? Yes. Topless Zombie Hookers.

Milla Jovovich

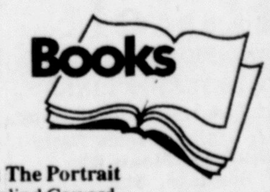

"Resident Evil: Apocalypse" is big, loud and dumb. Not in an annoying Michael Moore kind of way, but more like a big, goofy St. Bernard who wants to play tug-of-war with your shoe.

Oh, and did I mention the Topless Zombie Hookers?

Good.

Diana: The Portrait
by Rosalind Coward
(Andrews McMeel, $50)
Reviewed by David Smith

In the foreword to "Diana: The Portrait," Nelson Mandela writes:

"This book reminds us that the value of a life is not ended by death. Princess Diana's example continues to inspire and challenge us. We can all learn from her example and embrace her legacy."

"The Portrait" is an account of the late princess's life and humanitarian work, and is the first book of this size and depth to be approved by her family.

What makes "Diana" even more unique is its focus on her evolution from a shy schoolgirl to a fairy-tale princess to a person who rose above the typical "noblesse oblige" of her class and became a true humanitarian.

Copiously illustrated with hundreds of photographs, author Rosalind Coward, who spent more than a year on this book, interviewed dozens of people whose lives were transformed by meeting Diana.

"Wherever she went," writes Coward, "Diana changed lives."

"The Portrait" is divided into four sections that exemplify the Princess: "The Unique," "The Complex," "The Extraordinary" and "The Irreplaceable."

The book spends a lot of time focusing on Diana's humanitarian efforts — from meeting the homeless and championing victims of AIDS (before it became fashionable to do so) to comforting the dying and campaigning against land mines. Her public-service work is continued today via The Diana, Princess of Wales Memorial Fund.

"Diana: The Portrait" beautifully chronicles the extraordinary (though short) life of one of the 20th century's most intriguing women.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• Polish burglar Torge Czar came up with an elaborate plan to rob a jewelry store: He planned to tunnel through a wall into the safe, thereby retrieving the valuables stored there. He made a slight miscalculation, though: when he had tunneled through the wall, he found himself in a food factory. In fact, he fell into a vat of spinach, where he drowned.

• Famed author and adventurer Jack London claimed, "You can't wait for inspiration. You have to go after it with a club."

• It's been estimated (although it's not entirely clear by whom) that during Colonial times, a male in America who was more than 15 years old would consume the equivalent of 60 six-packs of beer every year.

• The land on which the headquarters of the CIA is located was once the family estate of Robert E. Lee.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On Oct. 6, 1847, Charlotte Bronte's "Jane Eyre" is published under the pseudonym Currer Bell. The book, about the struggles of an orphan girl who grows up to become a governess, was an immediate popular success.

• On Oct. 8, 1918, during World War I, U.S. Corporal Alvin C. York is credited with single-handedly killing 25 German soldiers and capturing 132 in the Argonne Forest of France. The action saved York's small detachment from annihilation and won the reluctant warrior from backwater Tennessee the Congressional Medal of Honor.

• On Oct. 9, 1940, John Lennon is born in Liverpool, England. As part of the Beatles and as a solo artist, Lennon became one of the most influential musicians in rock history.

• On Oct. 4, 1957, the Soviet Union inaugurates the "Space Age" with its launch of Sputnik, the world's first artificial satellite. The spacecraft, named Sputnik after the Russian word for "satellite," had a diameter of 22 inches and weighed 184 pounds.

• On Oct. 7, 1960, the TV program "Route 66" airs its first episode. The show followed the roadside adventures of Buz and Tod as they cruised Route 66 in Tod's Corvette. Americans tuned into the popular program for four years, continuing their love affair with the "Mother Road," nation's most celebrated highway.

• On Oct. 10, 1973, Spiro Agnew becomes the first U.S. vice president to resign in disgrace. The same day, the former Maryland governor pleaded no contest to a charge of federal income-tax evasion in exchange for the dropping of charges of political corruption.

• On Oct. 5, 1989, the Dalai Lama, the exiled religious and political leader of Tibet, is awarded the Nobel Peace Prize in recognition of his nonviolent campaign to end the Chinese domination of Tibet.

EIGHT INDEPENDENT-LEADER FRIDAY, MAY 25,

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS

The Sacramento river registered 13 feet 1 inch, United States gauge at the Southern Pacific bridge yesterday.

The peculiar contention made by the fish and game commission that it is saving the fish in the streams of the State of California for the people seems ludicrous when it is known that since January 1 there has been less fish taken from the Sacramento river than was ever known in the history of the stream. But that's a fact, nevertheless. The early part of this week a few salmon were taken from the river by some of the men who were temporarily loafing, waiting for regular jobs on the farms, but they were so few and far between that they were not numerous enough to count with the members of the fish and game commission. A few years ago it was no surprise to see several thousand pounds of salmon mild-cured. Now there isn't even enough taken to feed the families of Washington, without mentioning the hundreds of families in Sacramento who have been looking for a Sacramento river salmon since January 1st. Possibly the fish and game commission believes it is fostering the rights of the people by hatching a few salmon at Sisson and other hatcheries, but any experienced fisherman who knows the game from practical connection therewith will say that the efforts of the fish and game commission are not only detrimental to the fish industry but are even ruining that industry insofar as the preservation or conservation of fish is concerned. Absolutely there have not been one hundred pounds of fresh salmon taken by the fishermen of this locality from the Sacramento river during this spring, while a few years ago it was not uncommon for two men to land one thousand and fifteen hundred pounds in a drift, and these two men made several drifts every day. These are the absolute prevailing conditions without discount and local boys are still waiting on their oars for a salmon to come up the stream guided by a bridle and reins in the hands of George Neale or Frank Newbert.

A rest room is being erected at the Service Station on Fifth street by Doyle & Frazier, owners of the station. The rest room has been found an absolute necessity in this locality for travelers found the station a great convenience owing to the fact they don't want to take chances going into or coming out of Sacramento. Yolo County patrons are multiplying at the station every day and even local auto drivers are giving their patronage to this station.

The ninth child in the George Thomas family was born last Wednesday morning when a baby arrived at the home. The boy is the fifth and the latest of nine children.

At the Sisters Hospital at Sacramento, Mrs. Louise Smith, sister of Supervisor Leinberger, is rapidly on the road to recovery after a severe spell of pneumonia, following an operation. Mrs. Smith's sickness was very severe for several days, so much so that she was forced to have the attention of two nurses and nearly constant attention from her physician. She expects to be at her home in eight or ten days.

For many moons Bill Campbell, proprietor of the business in the Washington Hotel, has been complaining about his feet and he even simulated decrepitude by hobbling along sometimes with the use of a cane and sometimes with crutches, but lately with a small scantling of two-by-four dimensions. Many friends of Campbell compassionated with him for his disability and expressed themselves frequently concerning his malady. Last Tuesday night Campbell put all these fears to rout. One of the roomers at the Washington Hotel was suspected of being a drug addict, and to accomplish his arrest the place was raided by Roy Jones of the State pharmacy board, Constable Buckingham and Deputy Constable Ira Davis. Seeing that a raid was about to be made, Campbell sought to protect himself and made a beeline for the license that hung on the wall of the establishment. Getting the officers' backs turned he ran with the license to the nearest place of shelter and those who saw him absolutely coincide in the statement that he covered a mile a minute and didn't even need crutches, walking cane or scantling. Campbell laughs over the episode and at his own predicament at the time of the raid, but now that he has shown his natural speed he is forced to discard all his helpers in the art of walking.

At the meeting of the Washington Star Club last Wednesday evening at the Westminster Presbyterian Church in Sacramento, a Kangaroo Court was organized to try all cases of malfeasance among the members of the club. The first case to come before the court was a bootleg trial wherein Kenneth Van Derrin is accused of having the filthy stuff in his possession. The trial will take place in the church next Wednesday evening with Francis Bennets as Judge, Fred Gale as Prosecuting Attorney, Joe Ball, Attorney for Van Deren. The jury is composed of E. Manchester, Rev. W. H. Harrison, J. Dassonville, L. Batteli, and Duane Palm. The boys expect to have some fun over the conviction of Van Deren, because he is known to be anything but a prohibitionist, and at his preliminary hearing he asserted that the goods caught on him was cold tea.

D. Pellini has sold his interest in the boarding house of the Washington Hotel to Jose Ramos of Riverbank. Ramos has been conducting a grocery store and a soft drink stand at Bryte during several years past. Mrs. Cortopassi is boss around the institution and runs it to suit herself.

A masquerade ball will be the feature of the Saturday evening dance at the town hall next Saturday night. The management has provided several valuable prizes which will be distributed after unmasking. No mask may be removed before 10:30 p. m.

Bill Campbell has issued a challenge to any man of his age, over 70 years, of one hundred dollars to run a race of two hundred yards along the levee or on the Southern Pacific bridge, between Washington and Sacramento. His experience last Tuesday night has proved to him that he is still in his prime and able to do a short dash with all the vigor of his early youth.

The steamer Flora has been on the "ways" of the Sacramento Transportation Company during the past two weeks for general overhauling, and will not be able to take the water again for about 10 days. At the present time about 25 men are engaged by the Transportation Company, who are mostly at work on the steamer.

William Egan went to Woodland yesterday, where he will undergo an operation in a hospital.

Dr. and Mrs. J. Bulpitt of Modesto and Miss Hattie Bulpitt motored up from Modesto on Saturday for a short visit at the home of Mrs. John McNevin. Together with Mrs. Ray Peek and Mrs. Clarence Crittenden, they motored to St. Helena last Sunday, where the sister of Dr. Bulpitt is attending the Pacific Union College.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Speicher and Grant De Riso spent last Sunday in Nicolaus.

The seventieth birthday of Mrs. B. Moss was celebrated with a surprise party in her honor arranged last Saturday evening by her son and daughter, Ed. Moss and Mrs. E. J. Flint. The evening was spent with cards and music and refreshments were served at its close. Prizes at whist were won by Mrs. W. B. McClure and Frank Beale. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. V. LaValle and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Flint of Sacramento, Mr. and Mrs. F. Moser, Mr. and Mrs. William Wood, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. McClure, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Flint, Mrs. Mary Glenn, Mrs. Sarah Evans, Mrs. B. Moss, Messrs. Ed. Moss, Frank Beale and J. N. Peterson.

Inez De Prato, who has been confined to her home by illness for the past two months, is improved.

The Washington Rainbow baseball team was defeated last Thursday by the St. Stephen's team in a game at the Ffteenth and C streets diamond by the score of 4 to 2.

Edward Baglin, young son of James Baglin, who has been seriously ill at the home of his parents, is improved.

Mrs. Louis Adams, who has been ill at the White Hospital, has been removed to her home.

DOPE SUPPLY SEEMS TO BE UNENDING AND CONTINUOUS

Yesterday Roy Jones, agent of the State pharmacy board, and Deputy Sheriff Ogle of Sacramento placed Lee Lee and W. M. Bailey, colored, under arrest for peddling dope.

Both were arrested in Sacramento, although their transactions in the drug line were conducted in Washington.

On Fourth street, near Mary, Lee Lee, who has been convicted several times of distributing narcotics, was seen to conceal a package of morphine containing several bindles near a fence post. Officers waited for developments and soon found that the package was taken up by a drug addict and the price of the package left in the cache for Lee Lee to be taken up later. The addict escaped but Lee Lee was arrested in Sacramento.

W. M. Bailey was arrested in Sacramento also and had in his possession at the time of his arrest several bindles of cocaine and morphine. At the time of his arrest a woman, whose name could not be ascertained, was found with him and in her possession was found a large quantity of women's silk stockings and fancy silk underwear of high price and material.

Warrants were issued yesterday afternoon by Judge Barry for their arrest and preliminary trials will be held some day next week.

The more scarce jackass becomes in this locality the more plentiful the supply of narcotics becomes.

DEATH OF GEORGE HINES CAME FROM NATURAL CAUSES

On Friday, May 17th, George Hines died at the home of his son, William, in Riverbank. He had been in failing health for some time past and his end was not unexpected.

He had passed his 80th birthday, and although vigirous until a short time ago his demise came naturally.

Hines had seen and overcome the troubles and trials of the pioneers. He was a native of England but came to this country at an early age.

Druing the past 10 years he had made his home in this section of Yolo County and lived with his son in Riverbank.

He leaves his wife, Eliza Hines, George Hines, husband of Eliza Hines, Jackson, Michigan; father of Mrs. Clara Larson, Falun, Kansas; William R. Hines, Bryte, Calif.; Mrs. Jessie Knapp, Jackson, Michigan; brother of William Hines, Salina, Kansas; grandfather of Viola M., Fern M. and Walter W. Hines, Harthorne V. and Merlin R. Larson. Age 80 years, 4 months and 27 days.

Funeral services were held at the parlors of James Garlick at 11 a. m., May 19th. Interment at Odd Fellows' Lawn Cemetery.

INTEREST CENTERED ON SCHOOL AND DISTRICT ELECTIONS

A good deal of interest is being centered on the election of reclamation trustees for District 900, which election will take place on Wednesday, June 20th.

The reorganization committee of the West Sacramento Company evidently desires the election of new trustees, for expression has been heard that the present trustees are not regarded with favor. The present trustees are J. H. Glide, George Borchers and Doc Miller.

In the election to be held on the 20th of May to assess a tax of $3,500 for the building of a school in the Sacramento river district there is considerable interest.

The claim is made that the present school building is entirely inadequate to house the children with comfort.

The opponents of this measure simply desire to retain the old school building in its old location, so they may continue in control of its affairs.

The polling place for this election will be held at the public school house and polls will be open from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

FINISHED ROADS GREAT CONSOLATION TO FARMERS

Second street from Harriett to the M street bridge has been finished to the great consolation of property owners in this district.

All through the winter this roadway was practically impassable owing to the fact that its improvement was delayed last year until it was too late to place the liquid binding asphalt on the macadam that had been spread by the contractor.

The natural consequence was that the road was practically impassable during the winter to the great inconvenience and discomfort of the people.

Last week the finishing touches were placed on this roadway by the firm of Teichert & Son of Sacramento.

South of the M street bridge leading to West Sacramento headquarters a stretch of about 1,000 feet of road has been finished similar to that above mentioned.

This, too, has been practically impassable during the winter, for while it was macadamized the macadam was loose and barely passable for vehicles, but very dangerous for automobiles.

With similar treatment like that above mentioned the road is now in fine condition and farmers in West Sacramento district are blessing the supervisors for rushing along the work at so early a period of the year.

Work on the highway extending south of the Catholic Church in West Sacramento to Riverview has been started so that the job should be completed before the 1st of July.

South along the levee of the Lisbon district and within about two miles of Clarksburg a dredger is at work raising the levee to the required height expected by the Government engineers, and this portion will also be finished for a roadway as soon as the filling gets settled and the levee is placed at its proper height.

The unfortunate part of it is that the Glide interests have refused to raise their levee south of Glide's landing, thus leaving a gap that will have to be finished later on.

BODY OF SUICIDE FOUND IN BRUSH ON RIVER LEVEE

Last Monday afternoon several young boys of Washington playing on the river slope of the levee at Rocky Point discovered the body of a man in the brush whom they believed to be asleep and did not disturb him for some time.

Although making considerable noise in the neighborhood the man did not move and it was then that their suspicions were aroused and they called to awaken him.

Seeing he was dead they notified Judge Barry who informed Coroner Wilson of the find.

The body was lying face downward with a revolver a few inches from the right hand and underneath the remains. It was a Smith & Wesson revolver of 38 caliber. Three cartridges remained in the magazine and a large hole in the right temple indicated the means of death.

The remains were dressed in dark clothes with an army shirt and a pair of scout shoes with soft black hat.

On arrival of Coroner Wilson search was made of the remains but nothing that would indicate who the deceased was could be found.

From the condition of the remains it was evident that the man had been dead several days. His appearance showed him to be about 45 years of age, weighing 160 pounds, and about 5 feet 8 inches in height.

The remains were removed to Woodland and were interred in the Potter's Field.

John Schumach, a boat builder in the neighborhood, told the Coroner that he had heard several shots in the vicinity the previous night.

CLARKSBURG COUPLE MARRIED

Miss Hilda Avila, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Antone F. Avila, became the bride of Frank Avila at a nuptial mass last week, the ceremony taking place at St. Joseph's Church, Clarksburg. The Rev. Joseph Cunha, pastor, was the officiating clergyman.

The bride wore a wedding gown of white canton crepe draped with embroidered panels, and a coronet of orange blossoms held the veil. She carried a shower boquet of lilies of the valley and white roses.

John S. King, Jr., was best man and Miss Velma Avila, sister of the bride, attended the bride.

There was a reception at the Avila home, following which the bridal couple left on their honeymoon, motoring through the southern part of the State. On their return they will live in Clarksburg, where the groom is a rancher.

The Magic Word

He waited for one magic word
With which to thrill the hearts of men,
And waiting heard the songs of birds
At nesting time in field and glen;
And then with soul athrill he smiled,
For from green field and starry dome,
The voice of Nature spoke to him
And said, "the word you seek is—Home."

—A. M. C.

Better Homes Demonstration Week is coming, and we are reminded of the fact that since April 14, 1920, the Sacramento Lumber Company has been conducting a campaign with the purpose of bringing to the home-building public the advantages of knowledge that will aid them in the wise and careful selection of materials, and help them to choose comfort, convenience, and beauty in construction rather than the hastily built garage or house that becomes in time a source of annoyance instead of the joy and pride it should be to its owner.

visit the campus, and they will find it to be on of the cleanest, safest and well-monitored campuses anywhere. Plus some of the very best teachers in the district work there and it really is a fine school.

Q: What about River City High School -- in terms of student safety?

A: I think our main safety concern at River City centers around the simple fact that it's overcrowded. When you have 1,600 students packed into a facility that was made for 800 there are bound to be occasional in-your-face issues in crowded hallways, but in reality there is no evidence of gang activity there, the number of fights and expulsions are low, and we've had very few drugs or weapons issues. I think compared to most of the other high schools in the area, River City is a very safe campus.

Q: Will the new high school still be built at Jefferson Boulevard and Linden Road? And how will it be configured?

A: Yes, we plan to build the new high school at Jefferson and Linden. I still hear discussions about using Port of Sacramento property but no one has approached us saying that is a viable option. And although the new high school is being built to eventually house 3,000 students, we are going to adopt the school within a school approach, which means that if say we had 2,400 students, they would be broken down into eight separate schools of 300, each with their own core subject teachers for the entire four years. Studies have shown that high school students do better in such environments and I and other district administrators and school board members have visited schools that are successfully operating that way.

Q: Is the mayor of West Sacramento and other city leaders on board with that idea?

A: Actually, I think Mayor Cabaldon and the School Board see this issue pretty much alike, although I believe he would like to have numerous other small high schools throughout the city instead of one large one which has schools within a school. I personally see our new high school as being a joint use facility with the city and others where there will be an aquatic center for family use and other shared structures that would be available to community members before school, after school, on weekends and in the summer. You know, weight rooms, exercise and dance programs, a library for all to use, music and art events, all kinds of activities.

Q: Finally, now that you've been the superintendent of WUSD for almost a year, what are some of the things you're going to try and get accomplished in the future?

A: Well, for one thing, I would like to see us start working towards having magnet schools in science and technology, and math and the performing arts, which will give our students more educational options. I think that would stimulate more parents to get involved with their children's education and that is always a good thing. I also want to keep our financial house in order and continue to hire good teachers and keep the fine ones we already have. Now that we have passed the bond measure for the new high school I guess I just want to set a calm and steady course that will keep everyone focused on what's important -- providing a quality education for the students of WUSD.

would be better placed there (in terms of traffic impact) than additional houses would be," said Jones.

"Board president Irene Eklund said there had been no "rush" to approve the Jefferson/Linden location for the city's new, sole high school.

"If you go back to the Southport Framework Plan, back to the '90s, this site was designated as a high school," said Eklund. "The comment that this could be politically motivated – I really resent that. This has been done so thoroughly. The issues that were brought up tonight have all surfaced at one meeting or another."

maybe two times before," said Geivett, "and they took a bag of chips or little things. We've been really fortunate until now. They chiseled through the deadbolt and got in, and it looks like they loaded the cart and cut across the softball and baseball field and across the railroad tracks, judging from the tracks we saw."

The loss is discouraging to a group that exists to raise money to support the school's student athletes.

"We always put all our proceeds back into the high school," said Geivett. "We've been able to fund scholarships for seniors and to purchase equipment for athletic sports. Last year, we purchased $2,000 of equipment for the football team. We bought a tennis ball feeder for the tennis team. We made about $11,000 last year, kept about $1,000 for start-up expenses this year, and put the rest back into the school."

Geivett reports that the local police have been notified, and the club has posted a $250 reward for information that leads to an arrest and conviction in the case. Anyone with possible information on the crime is asked to call the police at 372-2461.

Anyone who can help the club recover from its losses is also asked to help. They may call Pam Geivett at her "day job" at the district office, 375-7600, or RCHS athletic director Scott Seffens at 375-7800.

Police log

EDITOR'S NOTE: Items in the 'police log' come from arrest reports and police incident reports. Details and allegations have not been verified through investigation or conviction. Names and exact addresses are generally withheld.

Sept. 20, 9 a.m.
An officer responded to the report of a fight between students at a local high school. One students believed another to be a member of a rival gang.

Sept. 20, 10:26 a.m.
On the 3200-block of West Capitol, a Plymouth Voyager was reported stolen.

Sept. 20, 3:30 p.m.
An officer confiscated a toy gun from a student who brought it to an elementary school and showed it to another student.

Sept. 20, 7 p.m.
On Soule Street, an officer contacted a man who reported his 1999 GMC truck ("Ryder-like") had been stolen within the previous few days.

Sept. 21, 7:05 a.m.
An officer saw a vehicle parked on South River Road inside a fenced property, and found a 35-year old man sleeping inside a metal building. The officer had a letter authorizing the arrest of anyone found on the premises. The property was also posed "No Trespassing" and the suspect had been warned not to go there. The suspect had a Sacramento warrant, and was arrested.

Sept. 21, 11:30 a.m.
A supermarket security officer placed a 44-year old man under arrest for shoplifting. The man also had some syringes in his left sock. Police took him into custody.

Sept. 21, 3:40 p.m.
An officer investigated a "hang-up" 911 call on Madrone Avenue. A resident was found to have two warrants and was booked.

Sept. 21, 4:50 p.m.
A 28-year old Todhunter Ave. man slammed a woman's arm into a closet door, causing injury, and threw a football at her, injuring her chest. The pair had lived together five years and had two children. The man was arrested.

Sept. 21, 4:52 p.m.
An officer stopped a 24-year old man driving 37 m.p.h. in a part of Evergreen Ave. posted at 25 m.p.h. The man had a license that had been suspended because of a DUI and had outstanding warrants. He was arrested.

Sept. 21, 7:10 p.m.
An officer stopped a car near Oakmont and Orchard. A 36-year old female passenger gave the officer her sister's name, believing that a felony warrant existed for her own name. She was arrested.

Sept. 21, 8:30 p.m.
An officer saw a 34-year old woman loitering at a West Capitol/Westacre Road bus stop. She had a warrant and was booked.

Sept. 23, 2:40 a.m.
An officer contacted a 24-year old man walking on Jefferson near Higgins Road. The officer conducted a "safety search" and found a glass drug pipe in the man's possession. The suspect also appeared to be under the influence of drugs and was arrested.

Sept. 23, 8:40 a.m.
An officer contacted a 25-year old man on Chaparral Street regarding the report that someone was trying to break into a home. The officer determined that no crime had been committed, but the man had an oustanding warrant. He was arrested.

Shirley Temple

Q. I have a Shirley Temple cream pitcher in cobalt blue. How can I find out how much it is worth? — Asunda, Bristol, Conn.

A. Collectors should be aware that many of the Shirley Temple cobalt pieces have been reproduced, and some are difficult to tell from the real McCoy. Most authentic cream pitchers in fairly good condition sell for about $50 if the decal is clear and bright. For a second opinion, you might want to contact one of the more active clubs specializing in her collectibles: Shirley Temple Collectors by the Sea, P.O. Box 6203, Oxnard, CA 93031.

Q. I have a large collection of advertising tins. I don't have a computer and cannot use eBay. Can you put me in touch with a club or collector who can help me? — Ruby, Sanbarn, Iowa

A. Pat Dowis is the owner of Tin Lizzie's, a store that specializes in tin advertising collectibles. The address is 6448 Dearborn Drive, Acworth, GA 30102. Michael Reilly is also a collector. His address is W259 N9116 County Road J, Hartland, WI 53029.

Q. I have some old postage stamps that might be valuable, and I would like to find out if they are. Whom can I contact? — Margaret, Santa Clara, Calif.

A. Let me first say that the value of postage stamps has taken a licking in recent years. Except for the extremely rare ones, prices have been fairly stagnant and interest has waned in many parts of the country. Since there are always exceptions to the trends, let me recommend two experts: William T. Crowe, Philatelic Foundation, 501 Fifth Ave., Suite 1901, New York, NY 10017; and Carlton King, L&C Stamps, P.O. Box 421, Sedalia, MO 65302.

Q. Where can I find information about Elvis Presley collectibles and values? — Bev, Cabot, Vt.

A. I'd be a hound dog if I didn't tell you that I get this question at least a dozen times a week. Since the values of Elvis collectibles are always changing, let me recommend Jerry Osborne, who conducts several Presley-related auctions each year. He is a recognized expert in the field and might be able to help you. His address is P.O. Box 255, Port Townsend, WA 98368.

Watch Out For The 'Credit Card Trap'
It's not unusual for first-time buyers to be free of debt. They've been saving for their first home for months or years. But right after they move into their new home, they're deluged with pre-approved credit card applications from banks and stores they've never heard of. Before they realize what's happening, many are over their heads in debt.
Consumer agencies know that mortgage companies do thorough checks before approving a loan, and those who have made it through that process are considered good risks. They also know homeowners have to make major purchases of furniture and appliances at a time when they have probably just depleted most of their savings. After years of disciplined savings, new owners are faced with the temptation to just say "charge it" for the things they need. Just purchased a home? Beware!
